Congratulated.

The large crowd of bidders or their representatives who were present were well pleased with the manner in which this important sale of bonds was conducted. Every one had an equal show and no one had an advantage. At the conclusion of the proceedings Treasurer Lippitt was heartly congratulated on the satisfactory results of the sale, and the bidders thanked him for his courtesy.

ness will be the proving of the claims of the various creditors.

Then will come up the matter of selection of a trustee. Each creditor whose claim is proved has one vote in the election of the trustee. The secured creditors, those holding the mortgages, have no vote.

Considerable work will attach to the trusteeship of this bankrupt estate and the fee of the trustee will probably amount to a considerable sum.

The settlement of the bankrupt estate is worth a regiment in keeping order in the district.

"It is no easy thing for a great nation to throw off its oppressors as they have done. Everything has gone as was planned. The people are jubilant, they fear only bands of robbers and desperadoes, but the new government will soon be firmly in the saddle. Marines were landed in Foochow by the United States gunboats to protect mission property. The leaders of the revolutionary party are all most favorably disposed to the missionaries and take the greatest pains to protect them. Postoffice continues regularly.
